Motion by Stubenrauch supported by Eckloff to adopt the following resolution supporting the Upper Peninsula Association of County Commissioners opposition to the MiWater Ballot Initiative;

WHEREAS the Upper Peninsula of Michigan faces a serious threat to the stability and future of the region's economy from the very prospect of the MiWater Ballot Initiative, and which if passed, would result in effectively prohibiting the region's citizens from realizing the benefits of a vital mineral production industrial sector; and

WHEREAS proponents of the ballot initiative reside in and are waging the initiative from wealthy Grosse Pointe, Michigan and other southeast Michigan communities-some 400 miles from the heart of the Upper Peninsula and distinctly removed from the daily issues of concern of residents and communities of the Upper Peninsula, cause the elected leaders of the Upper Peninsula Association of County Commissioners, and the organization itself, to question the capacity of proponents to know the best interests of the Upper Peninsula, our citizens, families and communities; and

WHEREAS the MiWater Ballot Initiative is written effectively such that its result would be to impact only the natural resource industry and specific economic interests of the Upper Peninsula including job creation, taxable investment, philanthropic support, education and workforce enhancements among them, and would not have effective application to any other of the state's regions; and

WHEREAS Grosse Pointe, the base of the proponents of the ballot initiative, was built on the back of Michigan's automobile industry, which historically could not and cannot today exist or prosper without the reliable supply of minerals produced from mining; and

WHEREAS Grosse Pointe was the home of automobile industry father Henry T. Ford, who invested in the acquisition of hundreds of thousands of acres of mineral rights and forest lands in the Upper Peninsula to supply the necessary raw materials for the automobile industry, and where Grosse Pointe remains today the home of Henry Ford's heirs; and

WHEREAS mining was the industry upon which the Upper Peninsula was founded, and which has served to create the social, cultural and economic fabric of the Upper Peninsula; and

WHEREAS the Upper Peninsula boasts a proud heritage of mining, which has contributed to the betterment of society by contributing the raw materials and metals-the building blocks of society; and

WHEREAS mining is one of the core societal wealth producing industries, along with agriculture, manufacturing and construction; and

WHEREAS the Upper Peninsula with its unique geologic assets is compelled to utilize these assets in a responsible, strategic, and meaningful fashion for the betterment of the region and its citizens;

WHEREAS the Michigan Legislature and Governor to the State of Michigan in 2004 enacted a new mining law and regulations that modernize and strictly govern mining operations in Michigan. This law and implementing regulations are deemed the strictest of any state in the U.S., and require substantial finance bonding; and

WHEREAS modern mining is conducted using advanced technologies, science, practices, measures that prevent, minimize, or remedy adverse environmental impacts associated with an industrial mining operation;

WHEREAS mining and natural resource based industries have provided the backbone of the region's economy and today, the region stands poised to renew its natural resource based economic sector, create hundreds of good paying and well-benefiting jobs for local people; and

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the U.P. Association of County Commissioners recognizes the serious threat posed by the MiWater Ballot Initiative to the regions economic well-being; and the threat the MiWater Ballot Initiative poses to the fairness of the Upper Peninsula to determine its own course, and to utilize its unique assets for competitive advantage; that proponents of the MiWater Ballot Initiative do not share in common the economic, social and everyday priorities of the Upper Peninsula; and that modern mining can and is providing society's building blocks while operating in compliance with strict laws and regulations set forth by the State to protect our environment; and

THEREFORE BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Upper Peninsula Association of County Commissioners strongly opposes the prospect and/or passage of the MiWater Ballot Initiative. Board polled. Ayes: Eckloff, Stubenrauch, Langdon. Nays: Keith, Fouths. Motion carried. (#10-1)
